

DO I STILL HAVE TO PAY MY PROPERTY TAXES DURING THE COVID-19 CRISIS?

Yes, property taxes will still be due and payable during the crisis. There are no late fees being charged through October 1, 2020 on Second Installment Taxes.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I FAIL TO PAY MY PROPERTY TAXES?

Your taxes will be sold at the next scheduled tax sale, however, due to the Covid crisis, the next scheduled tax sale has been postponed indefinitely.

WHAT IF MY PROPERTY TAXES HAVE ALREADY BEEN SOLD, CAN I STILL REDEEM THEM?

The Real Estate and Tax Services Office of the Cook County Clerk is accepting redemption payments by mail. There is limited public access by appointment only. You may email any questions and/or concerns regarding tax redemptions to tax.redemption@cookcountyil.gov.

Please check their website at cookcountyclerk.com/agency/property-taxes for the latest information.

HOW CAN I CHECK TO SEE IF MY PROPERTY TAXES ARE CURRENT?

You can check to see if your property taxes are current on the County Tax Portal : www.cookcountypropertyinfo.com

WILL THE COOK COUNTY ASSESSOR CONTINUE TO MAIL OUT ASSESSMENT NOTICES?

The mailing of assessment notices and appeal deadlines have resumed.

Property owners with assessment, exemption, or appeal questions can visit cookcountyassessor.com for answers to the most frequently asked questions. Customer service support is also available by sending an email via the Contact section of the website as staff continues to serve the public remotely.

CAN I STILL APPLY FOR AN EXEMPTION?

Residential property owners can continue to file homeowner, senior/senior freeze, veterans and persons with disabilities exemptions online at www.cookcountyassessor.com/exemptions. The Cook County Assessor's downtown office re-opened on August 31, 2020 for appointments only. Appointments can be scheduled on the Assessor's website.

CAN I STILL FILE A PROPERTY TAX APPEAL?

Property owners who have already received assessment notices for 2020 can file appeals online at www.cookcountyassessor.com/appeals.
